PDF Downloader Activation

PDF Downloader is a lightweight cross-platform utility designed to help you download all the PDF files that are found on a website. Since this is a portable program, it is important to mention that it doesn't leave any traces in the Windows Registry. You can copy it on any USB flash drive or other devices, and take it with you whenever you need to download PDFs from a website on the go. The user interface is really simplistic, and since there isn't a configuration window, all the options are neatly displayed in the main panel. PDF Downloader gives users the possibility of selecting the root folder and specifying a valid URL. Moreover, you can append a suffix to the downloaded files. At the end of the downloading session, you are given information about the elapsed and remaining time. Basically, it's extremely easy to work with this tool, as it doesn't require much computer knowledge. You only need to configure the dedicated parameters, and with a single click on the "Start" button, the application automatically downloads the PDFs from the specified URL. You can also open the saving directory directly from the main window. During our testing we have noticed that the program is able to accomplish a task pretty quickly, without burdening the overall performance of the computer. To sum things up, PDF Downloader allows users to download PDF files from websites quickly and with minimum effort. Thanks to its overall simplicity and clean layout, it may become an ideal tool for less experienced users.

In some cases, the content of Component2 may be empty. So, in that case, I want to show a text "Component2 is empty". Here is the code of my component.

import React, {Component} from "react";
export default class Component1 extends Component { render() { return (
